

A Boy Named Woodrow Wilson grades 3–8

A partnership with the Boyhood
Home of President Woodrow Wilson

This tour represents our partnership with the Boyhood home of President Woodrow Wilson; students will experience a two-part field trip that begins at the Morris Museum and ends with a house tour at the other site. Please limit your stops to the images that follow. For more information about these works refer to the tour plan found in the docent handbook online.

Students will...

- Find out about the connection between Augusta, Georgia and President Woodrow Wilson
- Learn about the time period between 1858–1870 in Georgia
- Discuss the significance of the Civil War including Augusta's role in the war
- Discuss moral issues related to race both during the Antebellum era and the years that followed the Civil War

George Cooke (1793–1849)
Portrait of Western Berkeley Thomas and Emily Howard Thomas of Augusta, Georgia
1840
Oil on canvas

John A. Mooney (c. 1843–1918)
Surprise Attack Near Harper's Ferry
c. 1868
Oil on canvas

Thomas Satterwhite Noble (1835–1907)

The Price of Blood

1868

Oil on canvas

Lamar Dodd (1909–1996)
From This Earth
1945
Oil on canvas

Thomas Addison Richards (1820–1900)
River Plantation
1855–60
Oil on canvas